FRESH DESIGNS AND THE MINDS BEHIND THEM

EMBROIDERED ELEGANCE

Laura Cheung Wolf's Lala Curio marries Asian craft with French haute couture to embellish hand-painted silk wallcoverings with embroidery and pearls. This year, her ornamented coverings are greeting guests at international luxury hotels such as in an installation at the Rosewood Doha in Qatar and a flagship boutique at The Peninsula Hong Kong. lalachurio.com

MARMI

For decades, Marmi's legacy has quite literally been written in stone as its alluring slabs of marble, onyx, quartzite, and more have transformed into architectural surfacing. Designers can now skip the guesswork that accompanies the raw materials. Marmi's new Editions collection presents finished products such as chic fireplace surrounds, apron-front sinks, and soaking tubs—all readily available to meet immediate design needs. The "Tassilo" wall-mount vanity is handsomely executed in Verde Levanto green-and-white marble with burnished brass accents that add a warm glow. A pair of drawers integrate into the rounded silhouette. marmistone.com

M2C Lighting

Linen is synonymous with summer fashion. And on the "Ella" pendant from M2C Studio, a North Carolina-based company, the fiber beautifully creates the fixture's primary design element. Dangling tassels are accented by a striking fusion of gray-washed oak, golden brass, walnut, and navy cord that finishes the fixture with style. The distinct design contributions of this diminutive pendant—just 9 inches in diameter—prevail even when illumination isn't needed. m2cstudio.com

Jim Thompson

For decades, Jim Thompson has mastered applying the most vivid values of color to textiles. For summer, the company pulled back its intensity on some patterns to align with the lightness of the season. The new Earthbound collection unveils the "Pana" rice plant motif, the "Meena" Baramundi fish design, and the "Malee" tropical floral that all blend outdoor beauty with performance fabric practicality. jimthompsonfabrics.com

PIERRE FREY

It's ooh la la love with Pierre Frey's "Belvedere" performance fabrics. The French textile powerhouse introduces classic wide stripes and wovens that put a fresh spin on summertime hues. After surf or sand indulgence, you'll want to cozy up to cushions (or draperies) made with these fabrics. pierrefrey.com

Modern Antiquarian

Margaret Schwartz knows the difference between dated furniture and furniture with an old date. The founder of New York's Modern Antiquarian has a knack for discovering treasures, namely antique furnishings from Sweden. She's committed to artfully outfitting contemporary interiors with antiques. modernantiquarian.com

KIM HOEGGER

Pack your bags and grab your passport. Design aficionados will bask in the beauty of timeless Provence on curated lifestyle tours with Kim Hoegger, a Dallas designer and antiques dealer. Hoegger's tours tap into the French region's culture and include strolling through charming Provençal villages, shopping for vintage and antique finds at antiques markets and flea markets, and indulging in culinary experiences through cooking classes and wine tastings. Two tour options are available this fall: September 17–24 and November 5–12. kimhoegger.com
